

SAILED LIKE A BIRD

Second Successful Flight of the Baldwin Airship Under Knabenshue's Guidance Made.

HE MANEUVERED IT AT WILL.

The Machine Then Descended on the Exact Spot on Which It Was Decided to Land.

Wednesday the Daring Navigator Will Attempt 15 Mile Flight Over a Designated Course, Choice to Be Left to Newspaper Men.

St. Louis, Nov. 2.—A second successful flight of the Baldwin airship was made at the World's fair Tuesday, under the guidance of A. R. Knabenshue, of Toledo, O., who maneuvered the "California Arrow" at will high above the western portion of the exposition grounds and descended in the stadium adjoining the aerial concourse amid the cheering thousands after a flight of 36 minutes.

A light breeze of probably three miles an hour was blowing from the southwest when the "Arrow" was brought out of the aerodrome Tuesday. Knabenshue was instructed by Mr. Baldwin to make a flight of half an hour and to maneuver in the vicinity of the concourse, but in descending to land without the enclosure.

"I'm all ready, start the motor," he said. Baldwin gave the motor whir a turn and the little engine energetically began its "chug-chug-chug," revolving the propeller fans. Lightly as a bird the airship rose above the heads of the cheering spectators, gracefully cleared the high fence and proceeded due north mounting higher and higher each instant. After reaching an altitude of about 300 feet Knabenshue waved his cap to the spectators and then swept his rudder to veer the "Arrow" to the south. Almost before the rudder had completed the turn the "Arrow" began responding, and slowly swung around in a circle until the prow pointed to the southwest against the wind. Then Knabenshue tilted the "Arrow" upward and began ascending. His course was directly across the concourse and his movements were plainly discernible. He peered closely into the motor, which seemed to have suddenly died down and began working at the controlling lever. After a moment the propeller seemed to gain renewed energy and the propeller revolved with speed. The young aeronaut then threw out some ballast and sand and stood toward the rear of the framework, tilting the prow upward at a greater angle. Like a bird the "Arrow" shot toward the zenith until an altitude of probably 1,000 feet had been reached.

Then Knabenshue headed directly for the southwest, breasting the wind. Then he made a complete turn and came directly back over the concourse. Once more he turned and proceeded to the southeast. Then the airship pointed toward the southwest and receded in a straight line for a mile. Field glasses brought to bear on the daring navigator showed that he was coolly directing his ship and that all was well. Then the airship circled to the east, turned again to the north, veered to the northwest and at a good speed came back to the vicinity of the concourse.

When almost above the concourse the "Arrow" changed its course again and proceeded directly east for half a mile, then made a turn and retraced until well over the stadium, when it swung to the northwest and proceeded until it had passed almost a mile northwest of the exposition grounds. A turn was then made within a radius of presumably 75 feet and Knabenshue headed toward the east and back over the concourse.

He then performed a series of maneuvers, shooting in one direction for a short distance, turning quickly and shooting off in the opposite direction, traversed a letter "S" course, dipped and came down several hundred feet, tilted the prow and ascended again to the original altitude and completed the series by turning the airship in such a short space that it seemed the vessel swung round on a pivot. Proceeding to the northwest until he had reached about the point of his previous trip in that direction, he turned the airship sharply around, and, hoisted later, he pulled the rope that releases the gas. Then he inclined the prow downward and slowly began his descent, all the time proceeding toward the stadium to the southeast. When above the stadium he was probably 600 feet high. This caused him to make a short circle during which the ship descended to within 500 feet of the ground. Knabenshue was then immediately west of the stadium and pointing the prow downward again he steadily descended until the frame work was seized by the shouting spectators who had hurriedly thronged the stadium enclosure.

Satisfied with the demonstrations of the airship over short courses during these two trials, Inventor Baldwin announced at the conclusion of the flight that Knabenshue will Wednesday undertake a 15 mile flight over a designated course, the choice of the course to be left to newspaper men, and the flight to be made regardless of the wind conditions.

BANK HELD UP AND ROBBED.

After Killing the Cashier the Bandits Had a Running Fight With Posse.

Cody, Wyo., Nov. 2.—Four heavily armed outlaws from The Hole in the Wall country Tuesday afternoon held up and robbed the First national bank of this place and after shooting and killing Cashier Frank Middaugh, of the bank, had a running fight with cowboys and hunters and escaped into Rattlesnake mountains, where they were Tuesday night being pursued by half a dozen different posses. A battle is imminent. The Hole in the Wall gang are noted as the most desperate outlaws in the west, and the Cody posses are determined to wipe the bandits out of existence.

One of the posses, led by Sheriff Jeff Champion, overtook the outlaws at Huek, 20 miles south of Cody, and a battle ensued in which Champion had a horse shot under him, but was uninjured. The bandits obtained fresh horses at a ranch nearby and escaped.

The debt is recapitulated as follows: Interest bearing debt, $895,157,770; debt on which interest has ceased since maturity, $1,627,700; debt bearing no interest, $386,354,979; total, $1,283,140,449.

The disturbance lasted but a short time.

NORTH SEA AFFAIR.

The Negotiations Between British and Russian Governments Progressing Favorably.

ARE ON THE VERGE OF SETTLEMENT

In Spite of These Pacific Conditions Great Britain on Tuesday Experienced a War Panic.

The Most Extraordinary Feature of This Terrible Scare Is That There Was Not One Single Circumstance to Justify It.

London, Nov. 2.—Negotiations between Great Britain and Russia looking to a settlement of the North sea affair are progressing favorably, and there is not the slightest danger of any friction arising between the two governments. The constitution of the international commission under The Hague convention is on the verge of settlement.

In spite of these pacific conditions Great Britain Tuesday experienced a war panic that can only be compared to the panic created on Sunday, October 23, when the news of the sinking of the trawlers in the North sea was received. Not for years have so many alarmist reports and flaming extras flooded London.

The most extraordinary feature of this scare, which was serious enough while it lasted, is that there was not one single circumstance to justify it.

The excitement started early in the day when the newspapers announced the departure of the Russian Baltic squadron from Vigo. The public were not in possession of the information cabled to the United States that only the officers concerned in the firing on the British trawlers would be detached, and jumped at the conclusion that Russia had broken faith by not detaching the vessels involved in the affair. On top of this came wild reports of tremendous activity at Gibraltar. Hour by hour the news from Gibraltar became more serious, until at last the climax was reached with the announcement that the British fleet had sailed to meet Rojstvensky's squadron. In huge type the papers made the parallel statements: "The British fleet has cleared for action," "The Russian fleet has sailed."

No newspaper and no person seemed able to explain these events. The reassuring information available in the United States that the sailing of the Baltic squadron from Vigo was with the knowledge of and agreeable to the English government, was not even hinted at by the papers here.

The news from Gibraltar became more and more alarming, and finally the foreign office was overrun by reporters, some of whom brought the rumor that Adm. Beresford had already sunk the remnant of Adm. Rojstvensky's fleet.

Ambassador Benckendorff at that moment was quietly discussing with Foreign Minister Lansdowne the personnel of the international commission, but it was popularly rumored that he was receiving an ultimatum. Premier Balfour, Adm. Sir John Fisher, commander-in-chief at Portsmouth; Lord Selbourne, first lord of the admiralty, and Prince Louis of Battenburg, director of naval intelligence, were all in conference and it was openly hinted that they were planning the first stroke of war. As a matter of fact, like Lord Lansdowne, were engaged in considering names that had been suggested for the international commission.

SIEGE OF PORT ARTHUR.

The Attack Begun on October 24 Was Still in Progress October 29.

New York, Nov. 2.—Japanese official reports regarding the siege of Port Arthur indicate that the attack begun on October 24 was still in progress on October 29, the statement being made that the fire of the besiegers was increasing in effectiveness.

Nothing of importance has developed on the Shakhio river, where both sides seem to hesitate to assume the offensive, although the Japanese are the more active in the matter of attacks upon Russian positions.

Member of the Admiralty Council.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 2.—The government has appointed Adm. Haznakoff a member of the admiralty council, as one of the international commission on the North Sea affair. The name of the second commissioner has not been announced.

CIVIL ACTIONS DISMISSED.

The Defunct Industrial Mutual Deposit Co. Cases.

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 2.—All civil actions against the officers of the defunct Industrial Mutual Deposit Co. to recover funds for the benefit of creditors was dismissed by an agreement with the receivers.

The suits aggregated $80,000. By the compromise the defendants pay $7,500 and transfer to the receiver all the claims against the Germania Guaranty Co., of Covington.

The receiver accepted the $7,500 because the defendants allege that they were insolvent. The same course of procedure will doubtless be adopted as to all other similar companies which went to the wall here three years ago, entailing criminal actions. This does not affect criminal proceedings.

IMPORTANT DECISION.

First Come, First Served, the Gist of Ruling in Barbour's Case.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 2.—The court of appeals decided that when a man is wounded in one county and dies in another, his slayer must be tried in that one of the two counties the officers of which first arrest him. The suit was brought to decide whether John R. T. Barbour should be tried in Louisville or in Bullitt county. Francis Hagan was shot by Barbour in Bullitt county. He died in Louisville. Hagan was first arrested by Bullitt county officers, and the court here says he must be tried there.

Covington, Ky., Nov. 2.—Edward Holan, aged 14, of Spring Lake, Ky., about 12 miles from Covington, will likely die from a gunshot wound, caused by the accidental discharge of a gun. Holan was practicing with his new shotgun Tuesday afternoon on his father's farm. Fatigued, he sat down on a log for a rest. He forgot to let down the hammer, and while handling the gun the trigger snapped, the contents of the shell striking him almost full in the stomach. His condition is said to be critical.

TREATY IS SIGNED.

Arbitration Between the Governments of the United States and France Established.

IT MEETS WITH WARM APPROVAL

It is Regarded by the French Officials as a Strong Bond Between the Two Republics.

American Ambassador Porter, When Seen, Manifested Heartiest Satisfaction Over Successful Conclusion of Negotiations.

Paris, Nov. 2.—The news of the signing of the arbitration treaty between France and the United States in Washington Tuesday is received here with the warmest expressions of approval, particularly in government circles, where the treaty is regarded not only as a strong bond between the two republics, but also as an important extension of Foreign Minister Delcasse's series of peace treaties. The initiative was taken over a year ago when Baron d'Estournelles de Constant, the leader of the French arbitration movement, wrote to President Roosevelt expressing the hope that the Anglo-French entente might have as a sequel a Franco-American entente. President Roosevelt expressed his hearty approval, saying that Secretary Hay would take up the question. In the meantime Foreign Minister Delcasse and Ambassador Porter went over the subject here and Secretary Hay and Ambassador Jesselard opened preliminary negotiations. The French officials were favorable throughout and regretted postponement, owing to the question over Spanish ratification. When Ambassador Jesselard was here recently, M. Delcasse again conferred with him on the subject. Since the ambassador's return to Washington reports indicated that former difficulties had been removed, and the news of the signing of the treaty brings the realization of what the officials had long desired.

Ambassador Porter, when seen Tuesday night, manifested the heartiest satisfaction at the successful conclusion of the negotiations. He said that the relations between the United States and France were fortunately so cordial that it was to be hoped the terms of the treaty might never be invoked. However, he added, the document would exercise a highly beneficial influence in giving definite treaty form to the long existing friendship of two governments and peoples.

The public and press strongly approve of the treaty, mainly because of the friendly attitude of France toward the United States and also as another notable achievement of M. Delcasse, whose recent pacific influences in the Anglo-Russian crisis have emphasized the benefit resulting from the various ententes he has succeeded in establishing.

THE LARABEE MURDER.

Six of the Accessories Were Killed By Persian Troops.

Washington, Nov. 2.—Mr. Pearson, United States minister to Persia, Tuesday cabled the state department that he has emphatically reiterated his unequivocal demand for the just and proper punishment of those responsible for the murder of Dr. Larabee, the American missionary. Mr. Pearson also reported that he had just been told by the minister for foreign affairs, who received his information from the crown prince, that six of the accessories to the murder, while endeavoring to escape, were killed Monday afternoon by Persian forces and that the remainder of the gang is being pursued actively by the military. By way of retribution for Larabee's mutilation the Persian military commander had two of the ringleaders decapitated and their heads exposed on bayonets.

THE ELECTRICAL LOCOMOTIVE.

Without Coaches It Attained a Speed of 70 Miles An Hour.

Schenectady, N. Y., Nov. 2.—The big electrical locomotive built for the New York Central Railway Co. was taken out to the Hoffman four-mile race course, equipped with the third rail, Tuesday, and without coaches attained a speed of 70 miles an hour. With eight coaches the locomotive reached a speed of 55 miles an hour. In 63 seconds after the lever had reached the first notch on the controller in starting the indicator showed that the machine had attained a speed of 35 miles and increased at a rate of five miles every 30 seconds. In a race with a New York Central limited on a second track at this point the electric locomotive easily beat the steam propelled train on the four mile run.

Weather Forecast

Partly cloudy to-night and Thursday.
 Probably rain Thursday.

WHILE the State campaign has progressed without any undue excitement there is a deep, earnest determination in the minds of the Democratic voters to give a final answer to the slander that Kentucky is or ever was a Republican State. The issue that divided us is buried forever. A regenerated, reunited Democracy is in control of affairs and their unanimity wipes out every chance that the opposition may have had to ride back into power.

Eight years ago it took hundreds of thousands of dollars and the corrupt influence of the railroads and the corporate power of the State to carry Kentucky by a few votes for McKinley. What chance have the Republicans this year with these organizations out of politics and the Gold Democrats practically all back in line. It looks like a walk-over for Parker and Davis. It is only a question of majority. Let us make it big enough to blot out the past and stand as a monument for future guidance.

BLACKMAILING THE TRUSTS.

The charge that Chairman Cortelyou has been blackmailing the trusts for the campaign funds has produced a profound sensation all over the country. Many quick denials have been made in inspiring statements from Cabinet officers and others close to the President, but the facts are all against them. Cortelyou was Roosevelt's Private Secretary. He put him at the head of the Department of Commerce, whose special function is the investigation and regulation of the trusts. His next move was to make him Chairman of the National Campaign Committee, although he had never had an hour's experience in practical politics. The purpose is clear. It was a shrewd way to shake "the big stick" without actually committing assault and battery. Of course a poke in the ribs from the President's ex-Private Secretary with a shillelah was as good as a nod to the criminal trusts. Cortelyou had no need to blackmail them with threats. Being adepts in such things they went after their check books, glad to get off so light.

It's all as plain as the nose on Pierpont Morgan's face. Of course the President is indignant at the accusation, and Cortelyou has been called from the sacred inner office where the boodle is distributed to publicly deny the charge. In the meantime the millions wrung from the criminal trusts are rolling in to the doubtful States, and it is so plentiful that even Kentucky, which is sure to go Democratic, has been given $100,000 just to show there is no ill-feeling.

DRYEST MONTH IN HISTORY.

Smallest Amount of Precipitation Recorded at the Louisville Station Since Its Establishment.

The month of October was the driest in the history of the Weather Bureau, the total rainfall for thirty-one days amounting to only .27 of an inch. This is the smallest amount of precipitation recorded at the Louisville forecast station since its establishment thirty-four years ago.

The lack of rain has had a damaging effect on the wheat crop all over the State. In many sections the grain is still lying in the dust, just as it was sown, there not being sufficient moisture in the soil to germinate it. Pastures have been permanently shriveled and creeks and small streams have dried up, causing farmers in many sections to have to drive their stock several miles for water.

THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Pyles, Formerly of This City Celebrate the Fiftieth Anniversary of Their Marriage.

The following is taken from an Ogden, Utah, daily:

On October 23rd Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Pyles celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, having been married fifty years ago in Maysville, Ky.

Mr. Pyles, who is seventy-five years of age, is hale and hearty and walks with an elastic tread despite the fact that he has lived longer than the three score and ten mark. Mrs. Pyles is sixty-six years of age and is the picture of health.

They moved from Kentucky to Utah in 1890 and since moving here have been very successful in property investments until now Mr. Pyles has some thirty families as tenants. While they have lived quiet, unostentatious lives, still, during the time of their residence here, they have made a host of friends who will felicitate them upon so auspicious an event in their life's history, as the celebration of their golden wedding.

Most of their relatives are living in Kentucky. Four daughters have blessed their union of whom Mrs. J. R. Skelly is the only one living in Ogden. Two of the four, Mrs. H. M. Pyles and Mrs. J. R. Wheatley, are in Kentucky, while a fourth, Mrs. M. F. Stafford, is residing in Los Angeles, Cal.

The following persons from this city attended the Democratic rally at Dover last night: Hon. V. McKnight, Hon. T. D. Slattery, County Clerk C. L. Wood, Deputy Sheriff James Mackey, Messrs. Douglas McDowell, John Eitel, Charles Wells, Joe Bode, J. P. Wallace and Frank Eitel.

The Fayette Home Telephone Company is constructing a line from Lexington to this city, where it will connect with the line of the United States Telephone Company. The line has already been constructed from here to Carlisle. It will give connection with all principal points in the North and East.

Mr. J. Green Early, special agent for the New York Life Insurance Company, called on Mr. David Hechinger to-day and paid him $5,282.16, the cash settlement on Mr. Hechinger's policy, No. 194,564, taken out in that company twenty years ago. This makes the fourth large check paid to well-known Maysville men by the New York Life during the past year and all of them were very much pleased with their treatment by that company.

JOHN I. WINTER,

MAYSVILLE, KY

MRS. SOPHIA BODEY.

Death of This Venerable Woman at Her Home Above Aberdeen Monday Morning.

Mrs. Sophia Bodey died at her home above Aberdeen Monday morning at 9 o'clock, after a lingering illness, aged eighty-six years.

She was born in Germany, but came to Maysville when only fourteen years of age. After her marriage she moved to the home across the river, where she died. Her husband has long since been dead.

Eight children survive—Mrs. Anna Hamlin of Covington, Miss Mary Bodey of this city, Mrs. Lena Cronin of Seattle, Washington, Miss Lizzie, Henry and George who reside with her, John of Aberdeen, and Mrs. Sophia Clark of Garden Plains, Ill.

The funeral occurs from the home this afternoon at 1 o'clock, with services by Rev. W. F. Martin, and the interment will be in Charter Oak Cemetery.

The repairs to the heating apparatus of the Central Presbyterian Church have been completed and the house is now heated by steam again.

Walter Robinson, colored, who died in Longview asylum, Cincinnati, Monday, was brought here Tuesday evening and buried this morning in Maysville Cemetery.

There will be a tobacco growers' meeting at Ripley Friday. President Hawkins and Messrs. McChord and Sullivan will speak. Mason County farmers are invited to be present.

C. F. Taylor, auctioneer, sold for Charles McAuliffe his farm of sixty acres to Mr. Langhorn Anderson of $75 per acre; also ten milk cows at an average of $32; hogs, 6c. There was a large crowd and bidding spirited.

James Burger, who was at work yesterday afternoon painting the roof of a barn on Mr. W. L. Holton's place in the county, fell and sustained injuries which will lay him up for some time. He was taken to the city alms house, where he will be cared for until he recovers.

Congressman Kehoe has for free distribution a limited number of copies of Burk's "Soil Survey" of Mason County. Besides other interesting matter the pamphlet contains a sketch map of Kentucky and a large, colored soil map of the county, which is worth a place on the wall of any business house or residence. If you desire a copy of this work, make application at once to Mr. Kehoe before the supply is exhausted.
